Scenarios to help us consider the choices people make

1. A group of friends are walking home together. They have an argument. One child stops walking with the group and goes the other way home.
2. A mum asks her children to help with some chores. One child goes to watch TV and one child helps their mum wash the dishes.
3. A group of children are in the kitchen eating snacks. A child drops a plate and breaks it. Their mum is in the other room. They quickly put the plate in the bin and run upstairs.
4. A group of children are at the park. They are playing. One of them decides to climb a really tall tree.
5. A group of children come home from school. One goes straight to watch TV. One goes straight and does their homework and one goes out into the garden to play.
